Dear Mr. Shanmugam, Professor Ibrahim, Mr. Tan, Mr. Pang and Mrs. Teo,

cc Prime Minister Lee's Office, Seah, J., Gaen, E., Batcha, A., Haw, C., and Low, F.

I sent documents detailing systemic and widespread corruption at autonomous institutes to Prime Minister Lee's Office earlier today.

I have been trying very hard and unsuccessfully to make a police report. I cannot log onto SingPass because Nanyang Technological University cancelled my Employment Pass. I cannot go in person to the police station because I fear for my safety (I am being followed) and the safety of my laptop. The police insisted that I may not be protected in any way as a witness or otherwise: I should either call a taxi or call someone else like family and friends to help. Also, the police repeatedly rejected my invitation to visit me at my place of residence. The police however did take the trouble to call my condo manager who then called me to offer help with a security guard - of course I would not place an untrained guard at risk and to the best of my knowledge security guards have no executive power to file a police report.

Co-incidentally, I understand there has been round the clock heavy police presence in the vicinity of where I live, some kind of manhunt I assume, for the past two weeks at least. Of course, I would do anything in my power to assist apprehending any such dangerous individual so thoroughly disturbing the historical and proverbial peace of Singapore.

Please let me know what I should do until I hear back from Prime Minister Lee's Office hopefully soon.

Kind regards,

There is an error, the 'official email' you sent has nothing to do with my case and less than nothing to do with the 'tele conversation' we had this morning, I may send you a transcript of that. Please review the details, or try to remember our conversation.

Dear Mohamed Helmy,

We refer to your email dated 14 December 2020 and our tele conversation this morning.

Singapore Police Force had taken note of your feedback. If you suspect that you are a victim of crime, we would like to advise you to lodge a report on the matter. You may lodge a report via:

- online via the Electronic Police Centre (www.police.gov.sg/epc) if you have a SingPass account
- at any Neighbourhood Police Centre (NPC) (open 24 hours)
- at any Neighbourhood Police Post (NPP) (open from 12.00pm to 10.00pm)

The locations of our NPCs and NPPs can be found at <http://www.police.gov.sg/content/contact-us>. Upon receiving your report, the Police will assess whether there is any criminal offence disclosed and render you the appropriate assistance.

If you require immediate Police assistance, please contact our Police emergency number at 999.

Yours sincerely,
