Dear Alvin

cc Nicolas

I am indeed disappointed you may not represent me despite your enthusiasm and consistent assurance that Farallon Law is the ideal counsel for me, and that I have a strong case. I am also disappointed you may not write the letter to NTU you had promised to.

Please do not hesitate to contact me should, in the near future, circumstances allow Farallon Law to give my matter the prompt attention and time that it would deserve, and you may once again prioritise my interest.

I did appreciate your understanding for the unjust treatment I am receiving.

Kind regards,
Helmy

Dear Helmy,

Thank you for your email and for your consideration in having us represent you.

We would unfortunately have to decline representation in this instance as we are currently busy with previously engaged matters and may not be able to give your matter the prompt attention and time that it would deserve.

We wish you all the best in achieving a satisfactory resolution.

Best regards,

Alvin

Dear Alvin,

You had promised to consider drafting our communication to NTU yesterday so I was hoping for your feedback. By when may Farallon Law contact NTU, and we may discuss our course of action in the likely event my request for reassignment is ignored or dismissed by NTU?

On at least two of the occasions we met or spoke on the phone you: (i) explained that contact with NTU should be initiated by Farallon Law sooner rather than later; (ii) assured me that Farallon Law is the ideal counsel for me; and (iii) kindly apologised for the delay in your replies. That you had missed vital text and attachment in an email of five lines and two attachments, five working days after I had sent the email, and that confidential documents I had sent you were not all in one place in Farallon's records are worrying. I find it difficult to reconcile these with the confidence you inspired in me, and the understanding you have shown. I have no doubt my interest is a priority well-placed within Farallon Law, especially given your reputation and that we have a strong case.

You will agree I have been patient and considerate, allowing a week to hear back from you before sending gentle reminders. I must insist we shortly develop a clear and timely course of action for my case. I would be very disappointed if Farallon Law does not have the capacity to prioritise my interest at this time. Should this be the case, I think I should be reimbursed, and hope any damages I incur for the associated delays will not be substantive.

Once again, I reiterate my gratitude for your support and understanding. I am depending on you and Farallon Law: to represent me in urgent proceedings with NTU, and to guide me through any legal obligations regarding the information I sent you.

I am very much looking forward to your reply.

Kind regards,
Helmy

Dear Alvin,

Once more, thank you for call last Friday. What needs to be communicated became clear after speaking with you.

Please find attached MH_Letter_2.pdf. I will message the password.

I appreciate your thoughtfulness to inform me of Farallon Law fees in advance. I know that superior and fast legal counselling comes at a premium. As before, please consider the invoice settled.

I was surprised you had missed the attachment and text in my email regarding Bates' message, and that the documents I had sent you were not all in one place. I understood from you that law firms are particularly busy these days but at the same time I am depending on you.

I am very much looking forward to speaking with you.

Kind regards,
Helmy

Dear Alvin,

Thank you for your call, I appreciate your support.

Please find attached:

- The material I sent to the university, seven (7) files with Main or Appendix in the name.
- A pdf of the email I received from the research officer, RIO.
- University policies for harassment and research misconduct, five (5) files altogether.
- My employment contract and letter of confirmation, Appointment MH and Confirmation MH.

I would like know:

1. Where are we in the Framework for Investigation and Disciplinary Proceedings?
2. Why data from published material with misrepresentation, falsification, and suspected fabrication was ignored?
3. How duplication was justified in the rebuttal?
4. The expert review on animal experiments.

Kind regards,
Helmy

Dear Alvin,

I would like you to please represent me, I hope you may accept.

Please find attached the two pages we discussed (Letter_MH.docx). The main text is a little over two pages, the rest is data. Please feel free to modify.

I received a reply from the research officer (RIO_reply_MH.docx). I made notes inline, my text is in black.

I guess things may move fast?

Please let me know what I may do to facilitate or should settle promptly.

Kind regards,
Helmy

Dear Alvin,

There have been some suspicious events on which I would please like to consult with you and receive your advice. Would you be available between Tuesday 27th and Wednesday 28th please?

I do not think the material I sent in my last message is helpful to this consultation, you may decide.

As always, thank you for your help and support, and I look forward to your reply.

Kind regards,
Helmy

Dear Alvin,

I can't thank you enough for your advice.

I'm sending the boss' Animal Use Protocol (RM AUP.pdf). I think it's full of holes in NACLAR Guidelines and NTU IACUC SOP terms. I highlighted a paragraph on page 10 which should have sent alarm bells ringing.

I took the liberty of attaching documents with constrained access including my contract (MH2.pdf and MH3.pdf), and the NACLAR Guidelines for convenience. I don't know what's important, so I put in everything I have which might be. I apologise in advance.

I am keen for the opportunity of another consultation, and hope you may have time for me in the coming days or weeks.

I may settle with Nicolas as appropriate.

I don't think I mentioned it and stopped pursuing that evidence because my friend, the prof, told me it won't matter but I want to share this with you: what upsets me is the students that were probably demoralized. Their acknowledgements are identical, "...First / Foremost / Firstly [pick one] I would like to thank Asst Prof Mitra for the opportunity..." etc. I can see it in their Final Year Project reports. For example, one student wrote something like: "The results were not significant, maybe because we just counted the cells. We could have measured area of the cells but because measuring volume takes a lot of time, we didn't". I wish there was some way to tell those students: your message has been heard.

Kind regards,
Helmy
